Farm Bureau Notes

Announcements

The ladies of Marion are requested to donate dishes of potato salad as well as the farmers' wives of the county.

More animals to barbecue are needed and every one who has not furnished a carcass and can possibly do so are urged to get in touch with James Alex Hill. Animals are to be delivered Monday: those south of town to Will Crider's farm on the Crayne road and all others to the stock pen at the Marion Mill.

Let's have every one in Crittenden county get behind this monster barbecue.

Sheep Campaigns

Farmers of Crittenden county are to receive special help with their sheep problems from August 1 to August 5 according to County Agent Spencer who announced today that a sheep culling campaign would be held in the county during that time by the Extension Division of the College of Agriculture which is cooperating with him in the work. The object of the campaign will be to help farmers select those sheep from their flock which are the most profitable both from the wool and lamb production standpoint and to suggest methods of mating that will improve the flocks of the county.

A number of community meetings will be arranged at which time R. C. Miller, who is in charge of the campaign, will discuss problems of sheep raising with the farmers. Moving picture films and lantern slides will be used to illustrate the lectures. The day following the night meeting a demonstration will be conducted at some farm in the community to show farmers how to distinguish between profitable and unprofitable animals in their sheep. County Agent Spencer announced that four night meetings and five demonstrations would be held. Dates will be given next week.

A schedule of farms on which the poultry culling demonstrations for Crittenden county farmers and their wives will be conducted July 28 and 29th by County Agent Spencer in co-operation with the Extension Division of the College of Agriculture is as follows:

Thursday July 28 8:30 at J. A. Fowler's farm at Chapel Hill; 10:15 W. R. Cruce's farm on Crayne road; 2:00 J. B. Caster's farm on Salem road; 4:00 Pres Belts farm at Cisco chapel.

Friday July 29th 8:30 Henry Holoman's farm near Brown School; 10:15 W. L. Terry's farm at Forest Grove; 2:30 Ben F. Drennan's farm near Deanwood.

Farmers in the vicinity of the various farms will meet there at which time specialists from the poultry department of the college will assist County Agent Spencer in demonstrating to farmers and their wives the difference between the loafing and the heavy laying hen. Birds of both types will be selected from the flock on the farm and the details of culling explained so that the farmers and their wives can go home and pick out the unprofitable hens from their own flock. Circulars will be distributed outlining in detail the difference between the hen that is a heavy producer of eggs and the one that loafs from now until next spring.

This is only the start of the culling work in Crittenden county as it will be carried on by the County Agent. Farmers interested in this work are urged to get in touch with him so that further demonstrations may be arranged.

WHEELER MAKES HIS DEBUT AT RICKWOOD WITH VICTORY

According to the Birmingham Age-Herald, Floyd Wheeler, the latest acquisition to the National hurling staff, made his debut as a local moundman in the final game against the Noogans. His bow before the local fans was impressive. His side arm delivery proved quite puzzling to his opponents and for six frames he held them to a couple of safe blows. Then with a commanding lead standing him in good stead Wheeler got a bit careless in the seventh and allowed five hits. Those five netted two runs.

In spite of the muggy condition of the grounds the contest was a fast one, it took only one hour and thirty three minutes to stage the game.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

In a little shady dell at the foot of the Todor hills near the old Arch Walker place, on Sunday morning, the people of the Bells Mines and Rodney sections began gathering and kept on until there was a large-concourse of men, women and children assembled, laughing talking and having a general social time. Near at hand was a long improvised table, a barrel of ice water and gallons of lemonade. About the noon hour the good women of the community assisted the hostess, Mrs. Virginia Price, to load the table with good things to eat. When they announced "It is ready." We gathered around and found a feast that would satisfy the most fastidious tastes or appetites.

After the lunch we had our pictures made, sang and talked and then we had ice cream. Surely everyone present had a good time. Some of the oldest present were Uncle Billie Hamilton, Uncle Dan King and Uncle Sam Dempsey.

If you had inquired what had occasioned this gathering and general good time you would have been informed that it was the thirty-ninth anniversary of the birthday of Mrs. Price, wife of Milton Price, who lives near the above place. Mrs. and Mr. Price formerly were citizens of Henderson county, but have come to make their home in Crittenden. We are glad they chose to live in our section because we are always glad to have accessions to our community who will add rather than take away from the social and religious functions of the neighborhood.

Long may this good family to make things better around them.

Yours very truly, E. J. T.

SMALL BLAZE

Wednesday morning about 11:30, a coal-oil stove at the residence of C. A. Daughtrey on E. Depot Street, burst into flames nearly causing a serious fire. Mrs. Daughtrey was in the kitchen cooking dinner when the stove caught fire. She called to some of the neighbors and with their prompt assistance succeeded in extinguishing the flames before the fire truck arrived.

CAMPING TRIP

Misses Elvah Pickens, Inogene Minner, Elizabeth Rochester and Virginia Flannery and Messrs. Ira T. Pierce, Doyle Vaughn, Jake Mayes and Raymond Small left Monday to spend several days at the Kuttawa Lake. They went over in a truck and will return Friday.

FORMER RESIDENT

INJURED IN ACCIDENT

W. L. Adams, formerly of this place, but now located at Zillah, Washington happened to a serious accident recently. Of the accident the Zillah Mirror says:

Postmaster W. L. Adams, Mrs. Adams and several members of the family had a very narrow escape last Monday evening while motoring to the Post Office to check out the east bound evening mail. The steering gear of the car broke, the front wheels struck a rock in the road and the car swerved violently into a ditch.

Mrs. Adams was pinned under the auto and was not released from her perilous position until Mr. Adams summoned help. In this accident Mrs. Adams sustained a broken right arm and a sprained wrist besides several bruises about the head and body.

Miss Mabel Adams, who assists the post master in the office sustained a dislocated collar bone. Mr. Adams received an ugly gash across the back of the right hand and a broken rib. Houston Adams was cut about the mouth and cheek and suffered a badly bruised hip. Grace Adams was slightly bruised about the head and body.

MARION WINS IN NINTH

The Marion Reds defeated Kuttawa on the home lot Wednesday afternoon to the tune of 6 to 5. Marion made four runs in the last half of the ninth. A small crowd attended the game and the team just about broke even on the expenses.

Kuttawa made two runs in the fifth inning and two more in the fifth. The Reds registered their first tally in the sixth frame and though runners got as far as third they were unable to score again before the ninth. In this inning Jimmy Kimsey, with two men on and one man gone, knocked the ball in his favorite spot over the ditch and scored the runners and himself on a couple of wild throws. This tied the score. Homer McConnell followed with a single and scored the winning run on Lamb's long hit to center field.

Kimsey pitched for the local team and did excellent work and was well supported, there being very little ragged fielding. Claud Guess did some good hitting.

As a whole Kuttawa had the hardest hitting team of the two and only lost the game because of a "blow-up" in the ninth.

PROHIBITION ON TRIAL A WARNING TO THE VOTERS

There is just now an effort being made to convince the voters that the Liquor question has been settled and there is no longer any necessity to consider the matter when we go to cast our ballots. The boot-leggers and the liquor men are organized and before we cast our votes in the coming general election we had better find out who the liquor people are supporting, they always know just who they can depend on to permit them to violate the laws against the liquor traffic and go unpunished and they will all be found working for the candidates that they can depend upon. We who favor the enforcement of the laws should get our heads together and support only men whom we can depend upon to faithfully do their duty and we should be ware of those who have always represented the liquor interest and who now claim that they have recently changed. The good women should be sure before they cast their votes that the candidate for public office has been and is yet in favor of prohibition and the strict enforcement of the prohibition laws and if we fail we can rest assured that the prohibition question is not settled or at least will not stay settled. In the interest of our boys and girls and in the interest of the Master's cause let's do our duty at the coming election.

FRED BE

OP

Little Eva Evelyn Guess, the little girl of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Guess was born June 8, 1921 and on Sunday night June 26. Her stay on earth was short being only two weeks and four days. But the time was long enough to win the love. A sweet little life to be missed so much and to make home lonely without her presence, a precious tiny bud that was budded on earth to bloom in Heaven. But Jesus said suffer little children to come unto me for such is the Kingdom of Heaven. I would say to the bereaved ones to weep not but live in a way to meet her some day on the happy Golden Shore. She has gone back to the God that gave her. Sleep baby till we meet thee one by one. The funeral was conducted by Broth F. L. McDowell of Marion Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the presence of a number of sorrowing friends and relatives and the tiny little body was placed away in Piney Fork Cemetery to await the Resurrection Morn.

HOME TOWN HELPS

TO STANDARDIZE ROAD SIGNS

Warnings and Directions Are to Be Simplified for the Benefit of British Motorists.

Many motorists in the United States will envy the system of road signs about to be put in effect by the British ministry of transport. Standardization of the signs and their position is the object in view.

The British countryside, like our own, has been festooned with a varied series of signs of warning and direction. Motor car clubs and advertisers have posted their own placards regardless of others on the spot. The confusing information presented has resulted in a certain amount of disregard of the signs.

Definite proposals have been laid down in regard to height, color, position of arms, inscriptions, etc., of directing posts, and they are to be applicable throughout England. An example is the red triangle, which is a danger signal. Beneath the triangle is some clear symbol to be used to indicate the particular kind of danger to be guarded against, with lettering beneath the symbol. Thus, a representation of the flaming torch of learning, beneath the red triangle, will warn the motorist of the approach to a school.

Quiet signs now found on English lanes, in spite of the charm they have, according to the plan will have to be sacrificed to the fact that after all a road is a means by which one goes from one place to another, and that any aids to that purpose should be adopted.

GARDEN WORK MEANS HEALTH

Benefits of Cultivation, Even of Small Plot, Have Been Proved to Be Many.

Community gardens have been encouraged in the city of Philadelphia for the last twenty-three years, primarily as a means of helping people to help themselves.

The same class of work has been carried on in other cities for shorter periods of time, with an equal degree of success and satisfaction, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

The original object in every case was to help the people to provide food at home, but incidentally and unexpectedly a number of other benefits which in their way have proved of greater value than the original purpose have developed.

These have to do with the health and pleasure of the families of the gardeners as a result of their outdoor exercise and contact with nature.

A game of golf is all right as a constitutional for those who can afford it. The number, however, who play golf is small as compared with the thousands of those who take their exercise and outdoor life cultivating gardens.

The cultivation of the garden also has the advantage that it adds to the wealth of both the gardeners and the nation.

The Small Town.

All America is watching the small town, studying it, interpreting it, seeking through it to discover the depths and intimacies of national life, asserts a high school principal in Virginia. It seems that whereas the small boy still imagines the city as the place containing the "great big things" of the world, yet when he attains intelligent and experienced manhood he continues to return to the village for the "really" big things which denote the nation's true character. Several years ago, says the principal, even New York forgot Broadway to listen to the broken silences of Spoon river, and the dramas and novels engaging the attention of the most serious of the metropolitan critics of today are those dealing with the problems of the Main street village. The country community is no longer obscure.

Proper School Grounds.

When provision has been made for the different playground activities the attention should be turned to the beautifying of the school grounds by means of planting trees and shrubs. This planting should be made for protection, such as a windbreak on the sides from which the prevailing winds blow, and for shade in the early days of summer or fall. It will be necessary to set the trees some distance from the school building, probably 75 or 100 feet distant, in order to give room for the playground apparatus. All planting should be kept close to the boundary lines and the foundation of the building.

CANNING ASPARAGUS FOR ANY EMERGENCY

It Is Excellent Served Either Plain or as Salad.

Of Great Importance That Vegetable Be Fresh and Tender—Watch Carefully for Any Leaks and Store in a Dry Place.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A housekeeper who has plenty of asparagus canned and on her shelves feels prepared for any emergency. It is excellent served either plain or as a salad.

The United States Department of Agriculture gives the following directions for canning this vegetable:

It is of the greatest importance that asparagus for canning be fresh and tender. Cut into right lengths for the Bunch of Asparagus.

Jars, scrape off the tough outer skin and scales, and tie in bundles. Blanch by immersing first the lower ends in boiling water for two minutes, then the entire stem for two minutes longer. Plunge into cold water, drain and pack carefully with the tips up. Fill pint jars with brine (4½ ounces of salt to one gallon of water) and process 60 minutes in steam-pressure cooker under five pounds pressure. If a hot-water bath is used for processing, boil the jars intermittently one hour on each of three consecutive days. (In cold climates, with young and tender asparagus, boiling continuously for two hours will probably be sufficient.)

Seal the jars and remove from canner, invert while cooling, and watch carefully for leaks. When cool store in a dark, dry, cool place.

COVER CEREALS AND FLOURS

If Kept in Closed Containers They Become Musty and If Left Open Bugs Do Injury.

Cereal supplies and flour should now be purchased in very small quantities. If they are kept in closed containers they grow musty, and if left open, are attacked by wandering bugs. Cover such supplies with a cloth, and a ventilated cover, and store in a cool place.

ARRANGE KITCHEN FURNITURE

With Pedometer Woman Discovers She Saved Half-Mile Walk Daily by Moving Table.

There is a better way that furniture can be arranged in most kitchens. One woman bought a pedometer and discovered that she saved half a mile every day after she moved her kitchen table to a more convenient place.

STICKY DRAWERS AND DOORS

Easy to Open and Close by Rubbing Soap or Soap Powder on the Surfaces Affected.

Outboard doors and drawers which stick may be induced to open and close by rubbing soap or soap powder on the surfaces that come in contact. Soap will also silence squeaking hinges.

Add half a cup of chopped nuts to hard sauce.

All clothes should be turned inside out in washing.

A pinch of baking powder will hold the omelet from falling.

A little grape juice added to a lemonade gives it a different turn.

Starched clothes should be dried and dampened for ironing at once.

A moth-infested closet should be washed out with turpentine and water.

Sliced ham of any age or quality is improved by soaking in milk for an hour.

Valuable coats or other articles of apparel should be steam-cleaned before being laid away. Steam-cleaning positively kills moths and eggs.

OUR INVOLABLE RIGHTS

Our forefathers, by the laws of the old country were mere slaves. They had neither religious, political or personal freedom. Hence they sought the shores of America, they severed connections with home, with church and with friends for the sake of freedom. They were forced to undergo terrible sacrifices but they persisted and for us they bought freedom with their blood. They sought God rather than gold and they were successful in finding both. They gave to us religious, political and personal freedom.

But our freedom has become a snare to us as a people. We have spread out so much, allowed so many injustices to ourselves and let the fence so low that it has cheapened human life, society and property until the entire nation has become imperiled. We have let other nations make us the dumping ground for all that is undesirable within their own boundaries; the ignorant, the filthy and thriftless and the criminal elements from every nation have teemed to our shores with an unchecked stream; the elements that do not care a rap whether the government and the churches of the United States survive or not.

This vast horde of undesirable aliens, dominated by beastly appetites and Bolshevistic ideas that are over-running America must be checked. We must get rid of them in some manner or as a nation the United States will strike the rocks. Immigration should be stopped and every adult who is not AMERICAN in heart, body and soul should be deported.

You hear a great deal about the good old days but suppose you had to go back to the coal-oil lamp, no telephones, no ice for the sick; no screens for your doors and windows; and ride horse-back or walk. Excuse us, we prefer the good days NOW.

The peace resolutions were passed July 1st by Congress and the big fight was staged the next.

In our opinion, the President did a wise thing when he appointed W. H. Taft, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Over one million dollars were paid by the American people to see a prize fight that lasted only 13 minutes. Yet people cry Hard Times.

The Court of Appeals has declared the Compulsory School Law valid and now it is up to the truant officers to enforce it. Every normal child should be in school.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

LIVE STOCK NEWS

IMPORTANCE OF BEST STOCK

Good Care and Right Kind of Feed Are Best Means of Preventing Undersized Animals.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The importance of good breeding in the growth of live stock, and especially in the prevention of runts, is illustrated by the experience of an Indiana swine grower. "I started with stock," he remarks in a letter to the United States Department of Agriculture "direct from the foundation stock of the breed, and the results were satisfactory. When I had time to read of the work of other men, the results of feed composition and experimental feed trials, I took from these experiences what I thought practical for me to follow, and the results, though not exceptional, have been the natural results of good blood and good feed. One of my boars, farrowed in April several years ago, weighed 165 pounds the following September. At sixteen months he weighed 600 pounds, at twenty-eight months 850 pounds, and the following fall 1,015 pounds. This boar was one in a lot of 15, as uniform a bunch as I ever saw. Others grew into 600 and 800 pound hogs under farmers' care."

"In addition to good lines," he adds, "care and the right kind of feed are important means of preventing undersized animals, but the most important of all is the man with the feed basket, for it is the eye of the master that fatteneth his cattle." So far as runts are concerned, I have never found it profitable to raise them under any treatment. I have seen lots of 'before and after taking' illustrations on paper, but not in the feed lot."

SCRUB PIGS ARE EXPENSIVE

Virginia Farmer Finally Convinced That Purebreds Are Most Profitable Animals.

The county agent of Page county, Virginia, tried last summer to persuade a farmer in his territory to keep purebred hogs. The man was difficult to convince. At the time of the argument the boys' pig-club contest for the year was just starting. Despite the arguments which the county agent made in favor of purebred stock, the man went ahead and bought four scrub pigs, saying he did not think the boys' club would do any better than those he had purchased. He bought his pigs a month after the club contest started, and gave them the best of attention. He butchered his hogs in January, this year, and the largest weighed 175 pounds gross. The prize winner in the pig club weighed 350 pounds, and was fed only a little over five months. This farmer is now trying to buy some purebred hogs, and declares his scrub cost him more than twice the amount the meat they produced would have cost him.

BEST FOR FATTENING STEERS

Feed Daily an Average of Fifty Pounds of Silage, Some Oil Meal and Clover Hay.

One of the cheapest and best ration for fattening steers is an average daily of 50 pounds of silage, two or three pounds of oil meal and two or three pounds of clover hay. With corn as cheap as it is in most localities it is a good plan to add to this ration during the last two months of the feeding period an ever-increasing amount of corn.

EARLY SHEARING IS FAVORED

Lambs Thrive Better If Mother Is Not Compelled to Suffer From Carrying Heavy Coat of Wool.

Practice early shearing. Sheep shorn early will thrive better and the lambs will also do better if the mother is not compelled to suffer from carrying a heavy coat of wool in hot weather. There is but little gain in the weight of the wool after the weather gets warm, not enough to make it worth while to leave it on, when the comfort of the animal is considered.

CARE FOR FATTENING LAMBS

Give an Abundance of Succulent Forage Supplemented With Different Kinds of Grain.

Special care should be given the fattening lambs as soon as they are weaned. Abundance of succulent forage supplemented with grain foods that can mostly be grown on the farm, with the addition of a small amount of wheat bran and oil meal, has always produced the best results.

CONGRESS APPROPRIATES A QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS FOR HORSE BREEDING.

Money To Be Spent Under Supervision of Army Officers To Raise More Thoroughbred Horses for Cavalry Purposes.

OTHER GOVERNMENTS SPEND MUCH MORE.

Realizing the necessity of government interest, supervision and participation in breeding of thoroughbred horses, if the United States is to take her rightful position with the other countries of the world, the United States Congress has made an appropriation of a quarter of a million dollars to be expended in horse breeding.

While this is a very small amount when compared with the millions of expenditure made by the governments of England, France, Italy and Spain in this work, it is being effectively used to enlarge the number of thoroughbred horses suitable for cavalry mounts.

In explaining the plans of the United States government for the breeding of more and better horses, Col. C. E. Hawkins, Quartermaster's Corps, United States Remount Service, says:

"The world-war brought out the fact that the National Defense demands, not only thousands upon thousands of horses and mules, but horses and mules of good breeding. Quality and breeding in the horse and mule is what gives them the staying power in danger and emergency, as well as for the less spectacular, but not less important, service in connection with our agricultural and commercial pursuits. What is true in the man is true in the beast. Courage in the soldier we call morale. In either case the quality is that of the will to stay when threatened by the common instinct to falter which means failure and defeat."

"The United States is the great horse and mule market of the world. Our allies depended upon us for the major supply of their war horses and mules. Thousands upon thousands were sold to the British, French, Italian, Belgian, Greek and other governments. The supply that could be sold was limited only by the ships available for their transportation abroad, and by the fact that nations were naturally of the first import."

"The first cry from abroad was for men, then for foodstuffs to feed their millions of soldiers and our own men; next came the demand for ammunitions—the stuff that made the hellish fire that raked the enemy; his theatre of operations and his lines of communication. On the heels of the call for these necessities we had the one for the war horse and the war mule, in quantities never before approached."

"Automotive vehicles were used in great numbers. Yes, that is true, and it will be true in the future. But war and the horse and the mule continue to be inseparable. The great military migrations of the past—those, indeed, of civilization, itself—are so linked with the horse that his production and improvement it may be said to have been co-existent with them. Motive power has been a valuable and important place to fill, motive power to the contrary notwithstanding. The latter and the horses will go along together, each filling an important and useful sphere."

"The breeding of horses and mules, far from being shamed, should be practiced in the spirit of the utmost optimism and confidence. True, the horse and mule market is upset. The demand, however, for every class will come again before the colts now bred mature. All our best informed breeders, breeders and farmers recognize this fact and advise doubling our attention to the work of breeding."

"Meanwhile better horses and mules should be the aim of every breeder. We need better blood, more quality; hence, a more valuable animal. A well bred, sound animal, of good conformation and quality of any class, will always bring a high price and a handsome profit to the breeder. It is the scrub or ordinary animal that loses the breeder and farmer money. The scrub eats as much forage and takes as much care as the high class animal; and one has nothing at maturity. The progeny of high class, pure bred stallions, that have proved their courage, endurance and speed in competition, and selected farm mares, will bring the breeder an increasing profit as the time goes on."

"The Government is backing the production of these better horses and mules. This work is being accomplished by the War Department through the Remount Service, under the Quartermaster General of the U. S. Army."

"The last Congress appropriated a quarter of a million dollars to further these plans. The project also is being backed by an auxiliary society of the Remount Service, known as the American Remount Association, composed of army officers, civilians, breeders, farmers, ranchmen, horsemen, owners of race horses, drivers and riders."

"Plans for an organization similar to that in charge of Mrs. Wadsworth are now under way in the interests of Kentucky breeders and farmers."

wagon, buggy, and harness and saddle manufacturers—in short, of almost all the representative organizations interested in the future of the horse and mule. The objects to be accomplished may be summarized as follows:

"To promote and improve the production of horses and mules.

"To stimulate the breeding of high class animals of the equine species, with a view to improving their blood lines and conformation, and thereby to enhance their usefulness and market value.

"To protect owners, users and breeders and dealers against unjust and unreasonable legislation.

"To gather, co-ordinate and disseminate data on breeding, feeding, stable management and care of animals.

"To promote and encourage horse shows, race and hunt meets, polo, horse fairs and riding and driving by means of competing for prizes and ribbons.

"To encourage the use of the horse commercially and for sport in healthy, outdoor exercises.

"To save the riding and driving horses from degeneration and extinction.

"To imbue our people with a patriotic understanding that the horse and mule is necessary for our National Defense.

"Our immediate concern is to save the riding and driving horse and high class race horse from extinction. We want to produce a truly American type of cavalry horse—a horse with breeding and quality, as well as bone and substance—a weight carrier and the best general purpose horse known—a horse that will weigh from 1,000 to 1,250 pounds, standing from fifteen hands, one inch to sixteen hands, light made, with good gait and action—can carry weight and follow the bounds across country—that the family can drive to church and also one that can hold his own in hard work on the farm—a horse that can be used to advantage and economically any and every where, except in very heavy draft. This type of horse has splendid looks, quality, action and vigor—a wonderful all-purpose horse for the farmer, and one that can be kept at a minimum cost. Almost every commercial and military use will be met by the progeny of this breeding scheme, dependent primarily upon the sire, quality and blood lines of the mares used in breeding."

"Among the stallions to be placed throughout the United States this spring will be over one hundred head of HIGH CLASS REGISTERED THOROUGHBREDS, big horses with plenty of body, bone and substance. These stallions placed in the stud through Government agencies, will be available to farmers and breeders at a minimum fee. The Government does not expect to make money, but to make it possible and feasible for the farmer and breeder to get the service of a high class approved stallion for their good mares. The object is to produce animals of real value and use that will not only pay for their rearing, but bring a handsome profit when mature. We expect the progeny at maturity to make general purpose horses, cavalry horses, riding and driving horses, show horses, hunters, race horses, polo ponies, depending largely upon the mares selected for breeding and the care in rearing the colts; a high class horse, both for peace and war, a link in the chain of our National Defense. The colts will belong to the breeder. The Government will have no strings on them. The owner will be privileged to sell them to whomsoever he pleases at any time. However, the Government expects to depend upon this source for its supply of animals in times both of peace and war."

"The New York Jockey Club, I may add, has established a half-bred registry at Avon, New York, with Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth in charge. This makes it possible for the farmers and owners of these colts, which will be half-breds, to register same at a nominal fee of $2.00, which registration is strongly recommended, because, when the farmer or breeder desires to dispose of these colts, a better price will be paid by civilians for the registered colts than for those that are not registered. In addition to this, registration is necessary if any type or breed of horse is to be established and recognized. All necessary information in regard to this registration can be had by writing to Half-bred Registration Bureau, New York Jockey Club, Avon, New York."

"Plans for an organization similar to that in charge of Mrs. Wadsworth are now under way in the interests of Kentucky breeders and farmers."

LIVE STOCK

KEEP PUREBRED LIVE STOCK

North Dakota Farmer Eliminates Runts by Liberal Feeding and Proper Management.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

To obtain the most rapid growth and best development of live stock keep good stock, and see that nothing checks its growth from the time it is born. This is the method by which a North Dakota farmer prevents runts among his animals.

In a letter on this subject to the United States Department of Agriculture, which has been studying the causes and prevention of undersized animals, he says, "In the 40 years of my farming and breeding and raising live stock of all kinds I do not remember a runt in any class or breed. I have always been a liberal feeder and a good caretaker. Besides, all stock had access to good, fresh water at all times. With this, in addition to good shelter and ventilation, it seems that my young stock would not stop growing from the time they were born. Use good judgment in feeding, and don't neglect the details."

A farmer in Vermont writes, "A well-bred animal well cared for will not produce runts. There is absolutely no excuse for one in live stock or poultry. By well-bred live stock I mean strong, healthy stock, well taken care of for several generations, and bred for constitution. This has been my experience from boyhood. First, with rabbits and game fowls, and later with sheep, hogs, horses and cattle. An accident to a well-bred and healthy animal will, if the accident occurs before it reaches maturity, affect its size but not its productive capacity. That is, it will not influence its ability to produce such young as it would have had if no accident had occurred. Eliminate all females that are not good mothers, and you will soon stamp the whole herd with constitution. Then with care, which means attention and feed, your runts will fall to materialize."

ONLY BEST PUREBREDS SOLD

Some Breeders Insist That Every Animal They Buy or Sell Must Pass Standard.

So strongly has the purpose of the better-bred campaign, now being conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture, appealed to some breeders that they are not content with purebreds only, but every animal they buy or sell in addition to being a purebred must pass a standard of excellence. The methods of one breeder in Upshur county, West Virginia, according to a report received by the department, illustrate this tendency. This breeder has a fine herd of Angus cattle. All calves which fall below the standard of excellence that he has set are not registered, but are either castrated or sold on the open market as common cattle.

GIVE EWES NUTRITIOUS FEED

Animals Entitled to Liberal Treatment While Carrying Young and Growing Wool.

After the ewes are bred they are growing their young, growing a crop of wool, maintaining their own body and should be fed accordingly. Give the ewes enough good, nutritious feed to keep them in a good healthy, thrifty condition. Where pasture is abundant, they will need no other feed, as green feed is the natural and best feed for sheep.

BROOD SOWS NEED EXERCISE

Good Plan to Compel Animal to Come Out of Sleeping Quarters for Her Daily Feed.

Brood sows need exercise to avoid becoming too fat at farrowing time. Exercise can be forced on the sow by forcing her to come out for feed instead of feeding close to the sleeping quarters.

EXCELLENT FEED FOR HORSES

Carrots Are Particularly Refreshing to Hunter or Work Animal—Usually Fed Raw.

Carrots are not excelled as a food for the horses. They are particularly refreshing given to a hunter after a hard day over rough country, or to a work horse. They are usually fed raw or sliced.

DRIED CORN IS MOST SUPERIOR

Canned Vegetable Can Be Used for Wide Variety of Purposes in Cooking.

GATHER WHEN IN MILK STAGE

Any of Sweet Varieties Having Qualities Desirable for Table Use Will Make Good Product—Sun is Factor in Drying.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A vegetable which, when dried, is above criticism even by the most critical, is corn. Other kinds of garden products may or may not be liked by many people, but dried corn is the equal if not the superior of canned corn and can be used for practically as wide a variety of purposes. The following directions for drying it are those advised by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Any of the varieties of sweet corn having qualities desirable for table use will make a good dried product. Corn intended for drying should be gathered when in the milk stage, before glazing and hardening have begun and when the corn is in an ideal condition for immediate table use. It should be gathered only as it can be prepared for drying, as corn deteriorates rapidly.

Careful Preparation Essential.

Husk the ears and trim with a knife to remove any injuries. The silk need not be removed, as it can be readily separated from the corn after drying. Place the ears in wire baskets or wire-bottom boxes and plunge into boiling water for eight to twelve minutes, or until the milk is set. A little salt may be added to the water if desired. Divide the corn into older and younger lots before blanching, as the younger ears require somewhat longer cooking than the older ones.

After cooking, remove corn from the water, allow it to drain and cool sufficiently to be handled and cut from the cobs with a strong, sharp knife, taking care that none of the cob is removed with the kernels. The glumes or the hull attachments at the tip of the grains are easily screened out after the corn becomes dry. Spread the kernels upon trays to a depth of 1 inch if drying is done in a drier, or 1/4 to 1/2 inch if the corn is to be dried in the sun. Stir the grains thoroughly several times during the drying to break up any compact masses.

Sun Factor in Drying Corn.

It is practically impossible to bring corn to a sufficient degree of dryness by the unaided heat of the sun. If corn is dried in the sun it should be finished by pouring into bread pans, placing in the oven of the stove, and warming to 100 to 165 degrees Fahrenheit for two hours. Whether the drying is done in the sun, in a cook-stove drier, or in a commercial drier, it should be continued until the grains are hard, semitransparent, and will break with clean, glass-like fractures if crushed.

Before storing free the corn of silks, glumes, and bits of cob. This may be done by pouring the corn from one vessel to another in a strong draft.

One Very Satisfactory Way of Drying Fruits and Vegetables at Home.

When the corn is dry, store in closely woven muslin bags or heavy paper bags. Tie tightly at the neck and place within a larger bag, which also should be tightly tied.

Do not allow the drying process to stop from the time it is started until the corn is fairly dry. Corn is a product which contains considerable sugar and protein, and if the drying process is allowed to stop bacteria are apt to develop and souring take place. Protect it from insects. If sun drying is interrupted by cloudy weather or showers, remove corn to the stove and continue drying or the product may spoil.

GOOD CARD-TABLE COVERS

Thin Patent Leather With Smooth Surface Is Slippery and Smooth, a Decided Advantage.

There are card-table covers made of thin patent leather, bound with heavy corded silk at the edges, with ribbons to tie them securely in place. These are admirable, for their highly varnished surface makes them slippery and smooth, an advantage always in a card-table cover.

SPINACH IS ADAPTED FOR EVERY LOCALITY

Plant Requires Rich Soil and Stands Cold Well.

Good Bed Should Be Spaded and Quantity of Well-Rotted Manure Worked In—It is Best for Use While Young and Tender.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Well-grown spinach is one of the best early spring and late fall greens that can be raised in the garden. Spinach is adapted for growing in practically every locality, requires a rich soil, stands cold as well or better than does lettuce, but does not do well during the hot part of the summer. United States Department of Agriculture garden specialists suggest one or two plantings in the early spring, just as soon as the danger of severe frost is past, and a planting late in the summer for fall use. Throughout the Splendid Patch of Spinach.

South spinach can be planted in October and remain in the open ground all winter.

For growing spinach in the home garden a bed about 5 feet in width and 25 or 30 feet in length should be spaded and a quantity of well-rotted manure worked into the top 8 inches of soil. Three pounds of commercial fertilizer should also be scattered over the surface and well worked into the soil. Six or eight ounces of seed will be sufficient for this space. Sow in little drills or furrows running lengthwise of the bed, the rows to be about 6 or 7 inches apart. The seed should be covered 1/4 inch deep and the soil slightly firmed over it. Watering may be necessary if the weather should be extremely dry following the planting of the spinach seed.

Spinach grows quickly and requires very little cultivation, except to loosen the soil a trifle between the rows and keep weeds from getting a start. If the plants are too thick—that is, crowd each other—they can be thinned out and those removed in thinning cooked for greens. The plants left will then have room to grow larger. Spinach is very desirable as an early spring green, as it contains plenty of iron and other mineral matter. It should all ways be used while young and tender.

QUALITIES OF FARM FENCES

To Give Satisfaction Barrier Must Be Made to Turn All Stock Without Injuring Them.

Farm fences should combine two qualities—service and economy—says the United States Department of Agriculture. To give satisfactory service the fence must be constructed so as to turn all kinds of stock without injuring them. To be economical it must be built as cheaply as is consistent with durability. The fence that is erected at a low initial cost is not necessarily economical, for it may be so short that it will be very expensive in the end.

The cost of maintaining a farm fence is determined by such factors as interest, repairs, and depreciation on the fence itself. Interest on the value of land rendered unusable, and the expense of keeping down weeds. The cost of repairs and the annual depreciation depend largely on the construction. If a fence is made of a cheap grade of material and is cheaply constructed it will need frequent repair and will be short lived. Such a fence will have a high repair and depreciation charge, which in most cases will more than counterbalance the increased investment cost that the erection of a more substantial fence would require. If a fence is made of good materials and is properly built, its repair and depreciation charges should be very low.

The efficiency of a fence depends upon the quality of wire and posts used and upon the manner of construction.

LIME CORRECTS SOUR SOILS

Application Will Prove Beneficial to Small Garden Plot—Binds Loose, Sandy Soils.

An application of about 50 pounds of hydrated or air-slaked lime to a garden plot 30 by 60 feet in size will often prove beneficial. Lime has the effect of loosening and pulverizing any heavy clay soil and of binding loose, sandy soil. Lime also corrects sourness in the soil, which is often due to lack of drainage, but in a case of this kind drainage should be secured.
